

Home → What We Do → Aerospace & Defense → Directed Energy

Laser-like Precision

HARNESSING THE POWER OF LASERS

Lockheed Martin is moving at light speed to position these capable systems for success on the battlefield. We have developed innovative fiber lasers, sophisticated beam control and auxiliary technologies. Combined with expert platform integration, these advances enable offensive and defensive capabilities against a growing range of threats to military forces and infrastructure.

